

ScottMadden Discusses Support Services Transformation: Keys to Designing a Winning Approach

ATLANTA, GA – (May 11, 2016) – ScottMadden, Inc., a general management consulting firm, recently joined industry leaders as a sponsor and presenter at SSON’s Shared Services in Higher Education event in San Diego, CA.

At this event, ScottMadden presented an interactive workshop to walkthrough leading practice service delivery models, touch on techniques for building a business case, and discuss options for implementation based on organizational constraints. This session helped attendees understand and select proven approaches for transforming the way in which support services are provided for their organizations.

“As higher education institutions have begun transitioning toward new ways of providing administrative services, many remain in the beginning stages of the shared services maturity model. This presents opportunities to further consolidate multiple service centers, integrate cross-functional services, leverage new or existing technologies, and streamline and automate existing processes,” said Courtney Jackson, partner at ScottMadden.
